COMMANDER TERM LIMITS

It is the policy of California Wing that there will be term limits on Group and Squadron Commanders. Commanders will serve no more than four consecutive years. The first year after appointment is considered probationary, followed by a two-year term in position. There may be a one-year extension. Squadron Commanders may be extended at the Group Commander's discretion and with the approval of the Wing Commander. The Group Commanders may be extended at the discretion of the Wing Commander.
